Addendum

In the printed version of our article entitled Antiviral Drugs for Influenza for 2023-2024 in issue 1689 (Med Lett Drugs Ther 2023; 65:177), the clinical studies section should have included a meta-analysis of 15 randomized trials in 6295 outpatient adolescents and adults with influenza that found that use of oseltamivir did not reduce the risk of hospitalization in the overall population or in those ≥ 65 years old compared to placebo or standard of care. It has been added in the online version of the article.
